FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636\(b\) and Special Order 3, this case was referred to the United States magistrate judge for case management, including the issuance of findings and a recommended disposition where appropriate. Upon review of the relevant pleadings and applicable law, this action should be DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE for lack of jurisdiction.

I. BACKGROUND

On March 10, 2021, Stephanie Bekendam, a former state prisoner, filed a pro se complaint against the States of Texas, the Dwyer Corporate Group, United Regional Hospital, Wichita County, Terry and Terri Wilson-Lambert, Thomas Wilson, an unidentified “lieutenant” of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Wichita County, the Oklahoma State Treasury, Supervisor Larry W. Bekendam, and the City of Wichita Falls Police Department. Doc. 3 at 1-2. The complaint is largely nonsensical, rambling, and conclusory. Bekendam asserts Defendants defrauded and abused her. Doc. 3 at 5. She filed her complaint on the civil rights form, checking under “Basis for Jurisdiction,” the boxes for a 42 U.S.C. § 1983 against state officials and Biven v. Six Unknown Named Agents of Federal Bureau of Narcotics, 403 U.S. 388 (1971), against federal officials. Doc. 3 at 4. As relief, Bekendam seeks $800,800,000,000, “all land,” a “Bed, Bath & Body Works franchise,” and “diplomatic immunity forever.” Doc. 3 at 6.

Bekendam is no stranger to the federal courts. While confined as a prisoner, she filed at least four actions that were ultimately dismissed as frivolous. See Bekendam v. Harmon, 7:01-CV-140-R (N.D. Tex. Aug. 1, 2001) (dismissing with prejudice for failure to state a claim under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)); Bekendam v. Tex. Dep’t of Crim. Just., No. 6:11-CV-299 (W.D. Tex. Sep. 26, 2013) (dismissing with prejudice as frivolous under § 1915(e)); Bekendam v. Director, No. 7:13-CV-45-L (N. D. Tex. Feb. 5, 2014) (dismissing with prejudice as frivolous under § 1915(e) with sanction warning); Bekendam v. TDCJ-CID/Parole, No. 6:14-CV-78 (W.D. Tex. Aug. 31, 2015) (dismissing with prejudice as frivolous under § 1915(e)(2)), appeal dismissed as frivolous, No. 16-50380 (5th Cir. July 14, 2017).

On August 19, 2020, shortly before her release from state prison, she filed another rambling and difficult-to-follow complaint, which the magistrate judge has recommended be dismissed as frivolous. Bekendam v. State of Texas, 3:20-CV-2307-K-BT (N.D. Tex. Mar. 3, 2021). Due to her vexatious litigation history, the magistrate judge in that case has also recommended that Bekendam be sanctioned and barred from proceeding in forma pauperis in any civil action in this court. Id. Shortly after the recommendation was entered, Bekendam filed this case and six others.

Upon review, the Court concludes that subject matter jurisdiction is lacking. Thus, this action should be dismissed sua sponte.¹

II. ANALYSIS

The Court should always examine, sua sponte, if necessary, the threshold question of whether it has subject matter jurisdiction. System Pipe & Supply, Inc. v. M/V Viktor Kurnatovsky, 242 F.3d 322, 324 (5th Cir. 2001); Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(h)(3) (“If the court determines at any time that it lacks subject-matter jurisdiction, the court must dismiss the action.”). Unless otherwise provided by statute, a federal district court has subject matter jurisdiction over (1) a federal question arising under the Constitution, a federal law, or a treaty, see 28 U.S.C. § 1331, or (2) a case where there is complete diversity of citizenship between parties and the matter in controversy exceeds $75,000, see 28 U.S.C. § 1332. “Under the well-pleaded complaint rule, ‘a federal court has original or removal jurisdiction only if a federal question appears on the face of the plaintiff’s well-pleaded complaint; generally, there is no federal jurisdiction if the plaintiff properly pleads only a state law cause of action.’” Gutierrez v. Flores, 543 F.3d 248, 251-52 (5th Cir. 2008).

The Court liberally construes Bekendam’s complaint with all deference due a pro se litigant. See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007) (noting pro se pleadings are “to be liberally construed” and “held to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers”); Cf. FED. R. CIV. P. 8(e) (“Pleadings must be construed so as to do justice.”). Even under this most liberal construction, however, Bekendam has not alleged facts that establish federal question jurisdiction.

“A federal question exists only [in] those cases in which a well-pleaded complaint establishes either that federal law creates the cause of action or that the plaintiff’s right to relief necessarily depends on resolution of a substantial question of federal law.” Singh v. Duane Morris LLP, 538 F.3d 334, 337-38 (5th Cir. 2008) (citation and internal quotation marks omitted). The complaint in this case contains no factual allegations that support federal question jurisdiction, including no allegation that a federal law was violated. Doc. 3 at 5-6. That Bekendam merely filed her complaint on the civil rights form and checked boxes indicating § 1983 and Bivens claims is insufficient to confer jurisdiction on this Court. Doc. 3 at 4.

Also, Bekendam indicates that some Defendants reside in Wichita and Tarrant Counties, which defeats subject-matter jurisdiction on the basis of diversity. See Corfield v. Dallas Glen Hills LP, 355 F.3d 853, 857 (5th Cir. 2003) (district court cannot exercise diversity jurisdiction if the plaintiff shares the same state of citizenship as any one of the defendants) (citation omitted). And, because the complaint does not present a sufficient basis for federal question or diversity jurisdiction, the Court cannot exercise supplemental jurisdiction over any state law claims. 28 U.S.C. § 1337\(a\).

Accordingly, the complaint should be dismissed sua sponte and without prejudice for lack of subject matter jurisdiction.

III. LEAVE TO AMEND

Ordinarily, a pro se plaintiff should be granted leave to amend her complaint prior to dismissal, but leave is not required when he has already pled his “best case.” Brewster v. Dretke, 587 F.3d 764, 767-68 (5th Cir. 2009). Here, the facts as alleged by Bekendam in her complaint clearly demonstrate a lack of subject matter jurisdiction in this Court. Thus, granting leave to amend would be futile and cause needless delay.

IV. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Bekendam's complaint should be DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE for lack of subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to FED. R. CIV. P. 12(h)(3) ("If the court determines at any time that it lacks subject-matter jurisdiction, the court must dismiss the action.").

SO RECOMMENDED on March 17, 2021.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR SERVICE AND NOTICE OF RIGHT TO APPEAL/OBJECT

A copy of this report and recommendation will be served on all parties in the manner provided by law. Any party who objects to any part of this report and recommendation must file specific written objections within 14 days after being served with a copy. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); FED. R. CIV. P. 72(b). An objection must identify the finding or recommendation to which objection is made, the basis for the objection, and the place in the magistrate judge's report and recommendation the disputed determination is found. An objection that merely incorporates by reference or refers to the briefing before the magistrate judge is not specific. Failure to file specific written objections will bar the aggrieved party from appealing the factual findings and legal conclusions of the magistrate judge that are accepted or adopted by the district court, except upon grounds of plain error. See Douglass v. United Services Automobile Ass'n, 79 F.3d 1415, 1417 (5th Cir. 1996), modified by statute on other grounds, 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) (extending the time to file objections to 14 days).
